

Presenting our co-facilitators

Reconciliation WA is proud to launch an on-going Yarning Circle program. A Yarning Circle is an important process in Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture which builds respectful relationships and allows everyone to be heard.

Each Reconciliation Yarn is co-facilitated by an Aboriginal person and a reconciliation ally who will guide the yarn through a discussion on reconciliation, being brave, and making change.

» LEARN MORE

Tuesday | 6 Sep 2.30-4.00pm, Marlee Pavilion, Kings Park

Ian Wilkes is a Noongar man with connection to the Wadjuk and Balladong people. He is a past graduate of Aboriginal theatre at WAAPA and now a theatre-maker, performer and director.

Poppy van Oorde-Grainger is a visual artist, filmmaker and founding director of NFP production company Same Drum. She is passionate about collaborating on projects with a social impact.

Tuesday | 13 Sep 2.30-4.00pm, Marlee Pavilion, Kings Park

Tony Hansen is a Noongar man with connections to the South-West Boojarah region. He is a member of the Healing Foundation's Stolen Generations Reference Group and is the Co-chair of Bringing them Home WA.

Alan Carter is a founding member of Reconciliation WA and is the Associate Director, Reconciliation in People & Culture at Curtin University as well as the Co-chair of Bringing them Home WA.

Tuesday | 20 Sep 2.30-4.00pm, Marlee Pavilion, Kings Park

Rickeeta Walley is a proud Nyoongar woman, living and working on Whadjuk country. Rickeeta is the Cultural Educator with Aboriginal Productions & Promotions, as well as the Aboriginal Education Officer at Kings Park.

Charlotte Vaughan is the Education and Learning Manager at Kings Park. She is committed to supporting reconciliation through the integration of Noongar cultural knowledge in science and environmental education.

Tuesday | 27 Sep 2.30-4.00pm, Marlee Pavilion, Kings Park

Cyril Yarran is a proud Whadjuk Noongar from the Perth region. As the Aboriginal Education Officer at Kings Park he is passionate about teaching Noongar culture and language and preserving the oldest living culture for future generations.

Mark Tucek is the founder of the Tucker Bush Project. A certified horticulturist and nursery professional, Mark's work helps young Australians grow up with a stronger connection to nature and their food supply.